118247094788	Feb 17 2023	1 I rely on written work, quizzes and exams.
118243821206	Feb 14 2023	0 One can spend hours figuring out ways to counter online cheating of one kind or another, and I have and do, but the bottom line is a good in person class is ALWAYS MUCH SUPERIOR to online classes - students learn so much more.
118243118721	Feb 13 2023	1 Students reporting on other students who cheat/plagiarize in discussion posts.
118243074897	Feb 13 2023	1 I write questions with directions/requirements that make it hard to ever get full credit on questions if they haven't been practicing completing their work in the way that I instruct them to do so. Makes online cheating pretty tricky. Not impossible, but tricky.
118241972251	Feb 11 2023	1 process-based essays with students where I can give feedback during the drafting stages and see the progression of student writing
118239723482	Feb 08 2023	0 I teach drawing online. I've had students cheat, but it's not common.
118239596241	Feb 08 2023	1 Because my course is a skill building course that does not count toward graduation, I don't use a strict method. I go over academic dishonesty and stress to students that they are only cheating themselves and putting themselves at risk of failure in future (credit based) classes. If I have any concerns, I address it individually. (Check for plagiarism online - google the suspected sentence- etc.)
118238749630	Feb 07 2023	1 This is a big discussion
118237888864	Feb 06 2023	0 I feel like there are ways to circumvent every precaution that has been designed.
118237884921	Feb 06 2023	0 I manually check any passage that looks suspicious to me (excessively complex; sudden shift in writing style; seems like something the student would not have known; etc.) or has formatting that appears to be copied-and-pasted
118237795558	Feb 06 2023	1 My classes are so custom based on projects that aren't written assignments.
118237793191	Feb 06 2023	1 I teach Hybrid courses, most exams are done in class.
118237768673	Feb 06 2023	1 Since my classes are very personalized, my main concern is that students are who they say they are in my asynchronous courses. To combat this I assign a Google Docs based assignment which required logging in using Zonemail credentials.

118242347901	Feb 12 2023 1	HyFlex is OFFENSIVE to believe that teachers can communicate and teach effectively in this format without an assistant or TA to monitor the online portion. Teachers have far too much to do and think about while teaching. To add this is unrealistic.

118238439669	Feb 07 2023 0	Advanced Canvas training. I realize specificity here would probably be helpful, but I think several times a day, "there's got to be a better/faster way to do this." Sometimes I'm able to quickly figure out what that is by just googling it, sometimes I email Scott, and sometimes I just plod forward because I don't feel like I have time to figure out a better solution.
118238435461	Feb 07 2023 0	I think a practical session that provides better ways to do certain things. I get the job done, but I think I often take the long road when there is a shortcut that I don't know about. Usually, that's something I learn from other faculty or in one-on-one sessions. I cannot be the only one who would benefit from a back-to-basics boot camp.

118237768673	Feb 06 2023 1	Once HyFlex equipment is integrated into classrooms more fully, updated training on that equipment. Perhaps a dedicated training on using the Canvas "Teacher" mobile app, as many students interface with the course using the student-side app, and I find it useful in corresponding with them, perhaps there could be more functionality of which I'm not aware?

118245036719	Feb 15 2023 1	I realize this need is impossible but it shouldn't be: Anyone teaching remotely should be reimbursed for all resources required to do so successfully: WIFI access, computers, web cams, lighting, etc. none of this should be the responsibility of the instructor.
118243930644	Feb 14 2023 1	not sure
118243821206	Feb 14 2023 0	Prompt, helpful responses to online enquiries about the system. When I have had questions about online teaching I have literally gotten these responses from tech staff (though NOT Wanda, she's awesome): "I don't have time to answer that." And: "That is not my job." Or no response at all! This was extremely unhelpful during covid especially when we were trying to adjust to online teaching. It is unhelpful anytime.
118243176237	Feb 13 2023 1	More student engagement ideas
118243163560	Feb 13 2023 1	n/a
118243074897	Feb 13 2023 1	Not for me personally, but in conversation with HyFlex faculty, it would be nice to have a dedicated time/workshop/flex panel/etc. for faculty share what is working for them and best practices for keeping students engaged and attending in-person as we move forward with this mode.

Faculty who end up with all but 1 student online are wondering what the point of that mode is and why it can't just be synchronous online at that point.

118245036719	Feb 15 2023	1	As an adjunct, I have found the community colleges are doing a better job providing the support and resources for online learning. The CSUs have some trainings, but not as robust as California Community Colleges.
118243930644	Feb 14 2023	1	most students are doing well....
118243176237	Feb 13 2023	1	Very tired of synchronous Zoom teaching---need to wait awhile before I attempt that again.
118243163560	Feb 13 2023	1	Scott, Wanda, and Tim are AMAZING!!!
118243074897	Feb 13 2023	1	Frustration: Students sign up for asynchronous classes believing that it will be easier than an in-person/synchronous class. They do not realize that they need to find time for their "class time" hours in addition to the hours they would normally spend outside of class doing homework and studying. When the reality of what they have done (typically signing up for too many classes just because they all fit) sets in, they drop the class makin retention rates before census pretty low and creating a situation where students who genuinely needed that asynchronous section did not have the opportunity to enroll before it initially filled up. It is a battle to make sure students understand the requirements of the different modalities.
118243057741	Feb 13 2023	1	I'm looking forward to possibly teach Geology courses via Hyflex in the near future.
118242347901	Feb 12 2023	1	Student success is completely out the window. As an institution, we seem to care more about enrollment than student success. We ABSOLUTELY need to offer MORE in person classes and LESS Asynchronous.
118241972251	Feb 11 2023	1	I really appreciate the timely communication and many training resources offered at Las Positas! Thank you all for technical and pedagogical support!
118239596241	Feb 08 2023	1	Success: I'm always excited by the extent of interaction in the discussion boards. The majority of my usually "quiet" ESL students seem to thrive in this environment and interact much more than required. Frustration: I learned the importance of hitting "update question" on a regular basis when creating a quiz. Also, I learned to "save quiz" on a regular basis as well. Early on in online learning, I lost several quizzes (with TONS of work) because I accidentally clicked a wrong area. cue me on the verge of throwing my computer across the room and/or bursting into tears At the time, I was struggling with typing/mouse use due to my right arm injury, so it was infuriating.
118239550385	Feb 08 2023	1	Generally happy with what is available so far, need to find a way to be kept up to date on latest tools and offerings.
118239451455	Feb 08 2023	0	ZTC designations need to be added to the schedule of classes.
118239034821	Feb 07 2023	0	I love that we embrace Hyflex, but feel the technology can be better.
118238749630	Feb 07 2023	1	Thank you Scott and Wanda for everything you do!
118238612208	Feb 07 2023	0	Wanda's Flex Day presentations are very helpful. Scott's reminders at the beginning and end of semester are very helpful. He provides easy to follow steps.
118238439669	Feb 07 2023	0	Thanks for all that you do to help us do our jobs!
118238435461	Feb 07 2023	0	The Canvas captioning feature claims to be 85 percent accurate, but that is not the case in my course. A better captioning service would help me.
118238067443	Feb 06 2023	0	I enjoy teaching hyflex but it is also really hard when so few students are actually in the class or on zoom.

118237902435	Feb 06 2023 0	I love HyFlex!
118237884921	Feb 06 2023 0	Regarding accessibility of my posted materials, I have never been contacted by a student who has a DSPS-registered disability that would necessitate altering my materials. I did have a hard of hearing student one semester, and I ensured that Zoom lectures and videos all complied with the captioning requirement.
118237842584	Feb 06 2023 0	Thank you to TLC staff for your support of online learning.
118237790765	Feb 06 2023 1	Students have told me that cheating is rampant among online courses. Only in person assessment should be allowed.
118237776458	Feb 06 2023 1	I just wish I had more time and motivation to dedicate to my online classes....
118237768673	Feb 06 2023 1	I have appreciated all of the training and support over the years, thanks again!
118237766094	Feb 06 2023 1	TLC staff is the best. So grateful for all of you.
118237763228	Feb 06 2023 1	The LPC online learning department has been one of the best I have known from the various community colleges I have taught at. You are all a great team and the work you put into helping us succeed in our online courses really shows.
